

Steve Hess, Ph.D. Assistant Professor of Political Science, College of Public and International Affairs at the University of Bridgeport

Since joining the University of Bridgeport's College of Public and International Affairs in 2012, Dr. Steve Hess has served as Assistant Professor of Political Science and East Asian Studies. He is a graduate of Miami University (Ph.D. in Political Science) and the University of Louisville (M.A. in Political Science).

Dr. Hess has an active research agenda that has produced a number of publications, including a book, Authoritarian Landscapes: Popular Mobilization and the Institutional Sources of Resilience in Nondemocracies (Springer, 2013) and over a dozen research articles. His primary areas of interest include the study of protest movements and regime resilience in China and the East Asian region, as well as Chinese foreign policy in Africa.